CLEMSON COLLEGE, MONDAY JANUARY 27, 1947

VOL. XXX No. 5

Clemson's new honorary cadet colonel, Miss Betty Barton of Anderson, is shown being escorted through the traditional arch of sabers by Captain Salvo and her date, Cadet Captain Bill Moore. She has just been presented with the coveted eagles signifying her rank and is smiling happily as the members of the guard of honor look on.

Laundry Promises to Cut Cleaning Time

Dry cleaning can be delivered in approximately one half the present time provided: (1) Name and initials and (2) Clemson laundry number is put on each garment in indelible ink.

From downstairs, the intake section of the laundry, comes information that laundry would come back in less time of each man would label his clothing and would make a list for checking by the workers in that section, rather than having them make out a list for each man.

“It is much easier to check a list in place of making out a complete one” is the consensus of opinion among the workers who have the intake duty.

Mid-Term Class To Be Graduated On February 9th

To receive their diplomas, ninety-five seniors will mount the platform of the college chapel at 11 o'clock A. M. February 9, thus qualifying as the largest mid-year graduating class since pre-war years.

Dr. Sidney J. Crouch, local pastor of the Presbyterian Church and member of the faculty, will deliver the commencement address.

Since the majority of the graduates are veterans and do not wear the cadet uniform, tentative plans have been made for them to be attired in caps and gowns.

Commencement Marshalls for the exercises are J. G. Hardee, agricultural economics of Loris, Chief; F. K. Norris, agricultural economics of Eutawville; G. C. Willburn, electrical engineering of Tillman; A. B. Robinson, arts and sciences of Easley; G. F. Lewis, architecture of Orlando, Florida; C. E. Lowder, vocational agricultural education of Turbeville; W. M. Patrick, civil engineering of Ruffin; R. E. Christenberry, textile engineering of Greenville; J. W. Gillespie, electrical engineering of Taylors; and H. G. Reynolds, architectural engineering of Columbia.

Church services have been suspended for this Sunday morning to permit attendance at the ceremony.

New Corps Sweetheart Takes Over As Head Of Cadets At Dance

Miss Betty Barton of Anderson was selected honorary cadet colonel, replacing Miss Adelaide Best of Fairfax, at the annual Military Ball on Friday night, Jan. 17.

The new colonel, escorted by Cadet Captain Bill Moore, arts and sciences sophomore of Sandy Springs, emerged victorious from the grand march, which had brought the couples repeatedly before the judges.

Colonel A. J. Thackston, Jr., PMS & T and Chairman of the Judging Committee, announced the decision fifteen minutes after the intermission had ended. The other judges were Dr. J. E. Ward, Jr., Professor R. E. Ware, Lt. Col. R. D. Crosby, and Capt. G. C. Salvo.

The “Colonel-elect” passed through a military arch of sabers, formed by the cadet officers, to receive her commission. After Col. Thackston announced the judges' decision naming Miss Barton as honorary cadet colonel of the Clemson Corps of Cadets he pinned colonels' insignia on her shoulders and kissed her.

Immediately following her selection, the new honorary corps commander exercised her authority by cancelling Saturday morning inspection, all in keeping with tradition, however. Another of her official duties will be carried out on Bowman Field, where, dressed in the customary all-white uniform, she will review the Cadet Corps.

A graduate of Girls' High School in Anderson, the new colonel has attended Furman University, and is now studying at Anderson College, from which she plans to be graduated in May. After receiving her diploma, Miss Barton expects to attend Clemson's summer session and afterwards, enter Auburn.

Parr Named To Head Alpha Zeta

Henry L. Parr, agronomy senior of Newberry, has been elected Chancellor of the Clemson chapter of Alpha Zeta, national honorary agriculture fraternity. Other officers are Censor, Don Camp, animal husbandry senior of Bakersfield, California; Scribe, Ralph Williams, animal husbandry senior of Gresham; Treasurer, J. S. Alexander, horticulture senior of Clemson; and Chronicle, B. J. Stanek, dairy senior of Lykesland.

Late Bulletin

J. R. Potter, civil engineering senior of Spartanburg, was elected to the position of president of the Central Dance Association to succeed John Brady.

Other positions filled were that of vice president, T. A. Covington; for treasurer, Thomas Henry Ryan; publicity, C. E. Cheatham; floor committee chairman, J. W. Hawkins; placing chairman, Phil Klineck; decorations chairman, Ray Lillard; and designer, F. H. Murray.

L. C. Martin Drug Co. Has College Contract

(Editor's note: The following information on the current book and supply situation was obtained from the Business Manager's Office). Beginning with the second semester the method of requisitioning and billing books and supplies for veterans will be changed. The Deans and Department Heads have been requested to compile a list of material REQUIRED of a student for each course. These lists are to be placed on file with the L. C. Martin Drug Company. Individual requisitions have been discontinued. Instructions from the Veterans Administration state that “Arrangements will be made with educational and training institutions to furnish books, supplies and equipment or arrange for them to be furnished”. It was necessary for the College to enter into an agreement with a responsible firm and with the approval of the Veterans Administration arrangements were made with the L. C. Martin Drug Company to furnish to veterans all items for 1945-1946 as outlined in the instructions. In July 1946 the agreement was renewed for the current fiscal year which ends June 30, 1947. Beginning July 1, 1947 a new contract will be negotiated for the furnishing of books, supplies and equipment for the next fiscal year.

A cadet or a civilian student may purchase his books and supplies at any place they may be obtained.

The Registrar is to furnish each veteran with a certified copy of his class card. This card when presented to the L. C. Martin Drug Company will entitle the veteran to those items required of a student taking the courses listed. The book store is to maintain records as follows:

- (1) Prepare in triplicate all sales records for the semester.
- (2) When a purchase is made by a veteran it shall be entered on his record and there shall be recorded the name of the article, the price and the date.
- (3) On the record there is to be a space for the veteran to initial each transaction. His full signature is to appear at the bottom of his record.
- (4) When the veteran has been supplied, or at the end of the semester, he will be furnished with one of the copies of his sales record.

Paragraph 1 has been copied for Veterans Administration instructions:

- (1) “Pursuant to the law and subject to the allowable maximum expenditures for any one person, books, supplies, and equipment, including tools and other necessary articles, will be furnished by the training institution (or arrange for them to be furnished) to persons enrolled in courses of education or training. Such items will consist only—Continued on Back Page

Reynolds Edits Paper In First Trial Issue

H. Graham Reynolds, architecture junior of Columbia, was acting editor of THE TIGER this week in the first trial issue to determine the new head of the college news paper.

General makeup, layouts, selection of pictures and supervision of the issue were handled by him.

The next issue, scheduled for February 17, in which the new staff will be announced, will be handled by News Editor Tally S. Fox.

These are the two members of the present staff who vie for the editorship to succeed Osborne.

YMCA Cafeteria Being Remodeled

Improvements are now being made in the cafeteria area of the YMCA building. The space opposite the cafeteria is being reconditioned and tables are being moved from this area. Soon an auxiliary dining room will be available for use when crowded conditions prevail. This can also be used for a private dining room on special occasions.

In as-much as this occupies two floors, an additional floor will be placed there and some rooms made available for living quarters. Another improvement recently completed was the painting of parts of the basement.

Textile Hall Rooms Under Construction

Construction has begun in Textile Hall on a new corridor leading from the central entrance to the office. The annex will form three new rooms, to be used at first for instructional purposes and later for research on various fibers.

According to Dr. Hugh Brown, Dean of Textiles, one of the rooms will be air-conditioned and will contain new testing equipment, owned and operated jointly by Clemson and the Deering-Miliken Research Trust.

Fourth on Concert Series

National Symphony Orchestra Here February 15

The National Symphony Orchestra, hailed as one of the top six symphonic organizations in the United States, will present a concert at Clemson in the College Field House on Saturday night, February 15.

Under the baton of Hans Kindler, its permanent conductor for the past sixteen years, the National Symphony is now touring the nation between concert series in its home city, Washington, D. C. Regular programs are also presented annually in Baltimore, Maryland, and Richmond, Virginia.

The orchestra, organized in 1931 by a group of 97 music enthusiasts, is the only nationally-recognized symphony in the country that does not have any monetary backing from a municipality or from the federal government. Its total support comes from ticket sales and from the National Symphony Association, which began with the original 97 members but now has over 10,000 contributors from all sections of the country.

One of the high spots of its yearly season in Washington is the series of concerts presented in the Watergate Park. These concerts, presented nightly, are attended by audiences numbering up to 20,000.

Dr. W. A. Sibrans Begins Practice At Clemson Soon

Dr. William Albert Sibrans, a native of Bayonne, N. J. and more recently of Anderson, has announced that he will open an office for the practice of general medicine here at Clemson within the next few days.

Dr. Sibrans, whose wife is the former Miss Mary Shuler of Florence, studied pre-medicine at Fordham University and graduated in medicine from Cornell University. He interned at the New Rochelle (N. Y.) Hospital and at St. Joseph Hospital at Mt. Clemens, Michigan. Prior to opening practice in Anderson last September, the 37-year old doctor had practiced in both New York State and Michigan.

Dr. Gable Talks On Atom Nucleus And Black Light

Dr. Luther Gable, a uranium-radium physicist, brought here by the Kress Fund Foundation, spoke on “The Nucleus of the Atom and Black Light” in the college chapel, Friday night, January 17.

Among the many topics discussed by Dr. Gable were cosmic rays, television, x-rays, ultraviolet, and infrared waves. “Miniature atom bombs” containing radium and uranium were passed about in the auditorium, thereby affording the audience with a glimpse of the actual split-up of the atom. These “miniature bombs” were rendered harmless by the elimination of polonium, the third necessary element for explosion.

Declaring “we now have an atom bomb, 2000 times more powerful than all previous ones, three of which would blast to eternity everything between Boston and Washington”, Gable touched upon the significant subjects and events relating to unleashing of the atom nucleus' energy.

Frosh Elect Banks, Boykin, White, Arthur Class Leaders

Arthur Banks, electrical engineering major from St. Matthews, defeated Frank Millians, engineering student of Charlotte, N. C., in the race for the presidency of the freshman class at the polls on February 17. He succeeds his brother, David Banks, who held this office last year.

William Boykin, pre-medicine from Boykin, was victorious over Hal Brockman, textile chemistry major from Charlotte, N. C., for the office of vice-president; Howell Arthur, textile chemistry of Bristol, Tenn., defeated Bob Heinbockel, textile manufacturing of Manassas, N. Y., for secretary and treasurer; and Mack White, engineering major from Charlotte, N. C., was elected historian over his opponent, Bill Gressett, mechanical engineering of Florence.

Only 171 votes were cast in the election which was held under the supervision of the sophomore class officers.

In a statement for The Tiger, the new president said “I am grateful to my fellow members of the Freshman class for choosing me their president. I appreciate the obligations under which I am placed by this honor and I will try to fulfill them with good judgment and in an impartial manner. In return, I ask the interest and cooperation of the

Clemson's J. Strom Thurmond Sworn In As State Governor

Many Clemson Alumni And Students Attend Inaugural Ceremonies

J. Strom Thurmond, Clemson graduate of 1923 from Edgefield, was sworn in as South Carolina's 77th governor in inaugural ceremonies at Columbia last Tuesday. Governor Thurmond is the first Clemson graduate to hold this office.

A crowd of more than 5,000, including many Clemson alumni and students, jammed in front of the state house despite the first cold weather of the new year. Clemson's crack drill platoon assisted in escorting Governor Thurmond from the Governor's mansion to the state house.

Dr. D. W. Daniel, dean emeritus of the School of General Science and former instructor of Governor Thurmond's here at Clemson, introduced the new state head.

Among the many distinguished Clemson alumni seen at the ceremonies were Fred E. Pearson of Bennettsville, Paul Quattlebaum, Jr. of Charleston, W. K. Magill of Chester, Dr. H. B. Webb of Clemson, Sherwood Price of Walterboro, E. R. McVey, Sr. of Darlington, Earle R. and J. L. Alford of Dillon, J. M. Sprott of Manning, and Wade Woodward of Atlanta, Ga.

The delegation from Clemson was headed by Jake Woodward. Others were Business Manager J. C. Littlejohn, P. B. Holtzendorff, S. M. Martin, and Sam Williams. The official student delegation was headed by Blue Key President Will Kinard of Columbia and was made up of Cadet Colonel John Ervin of Darlington, Tiger Editor Ed Osborne of Hardeeville and Tiger Brotherhood President Lex Sutherland of Columbia.

Ligon Named To Head Methodists

J. G. Ligon, arts and science senior of Heath Springs, was named president of the Wesley Foundation Council (Methodist student organization), and four other officers and three committee chairmen were also elected last Wednesday evening at the Clemson Methodist Church.

H. L. Lancaster, Jr., mechanical engineering junior of Beaufort, and R. W. Wiggins, education sophomore of Mullins, were both elected vice-presidents of the organization. Chosen Secretary of the Wesley Foundation Council was L. T. Judy, agriculture sophomore of Orangeburg, and T. L. Monroe, electrical engineering sophomore of Marion was elected Treasurer.

J. H. Morgan, arts and science sophomore of Spencer, North Carolina, was named Freshman Adviser, and elected Chairman were D. C. Sojourner, mechanical engineering junior of St. George, as Publicity Chairman and J. K. Addison, electrical engineering sophomore of Cottageville, was elected Chairman of the Freshman Committee at this meeting.

Money For Taps Space Due Now

Taps space is now due and payable, according to a statement by Business Manager Charlie Joye. All money for space must be in by the end of this semester and a canvas is being made of all students by members of the Junior staff. Rates for individuals are Freshmen, $2.50; Sophomores, $3.50; Juniors, $4.50; and Seniors, $6.50.

February graduates may obtain their copy of Taps by leaving their address and fifty cents mailing fee at the yearbook office. Others not attending school next semester may obtain their Taps by leaving their address and mailing fee and by paying the remainder of their activity fee. Those not having Taps space may secure their copy by ordering same at a cost of $5.00.

Editor Wiggins announced that the book will definitely be ready for distribution before the end of the spring semester as over half of it has been sent to the printer and the covers have been made.

Professor Alexander Will Resume Position Here In History Dept

Professor J. B. Alexander will return here to resume his duties with the faculty in February as Associate Professor of History, after completing his work for his PhD in history at Vanderbilt University. Alexander began this phase of work at the end of last summer's term.

Big Plans Announced; C. D. A. Says Dance to Be “Best Since 1942”

Tiger Mid-Winter Ball is to be held February 28-March 1, with Hal McIntyre and his band on hand for the occasion. Bob Potter, new president of the Central Dance Association, has announced that this will be “the biggest dance series since Charlie Spivak was here in 1942”.

Tickets will go one sale on, or about February 14, and an extremely large number of invitations will be made available to the student body. The dances, as usual, will be semi-formal Friday night, and informal Saturday.

In direct contrast to the usual policy, Potter also announced that the band will be brought here at a cost of thirty-five hundred dollars. Unit ticket price will be $3.60 each night, and there will be no block tickets sold. Potter further pointed out that if this dance pays for itself, the C. D. A. promises a big name band for Taps ball.

Decoration chairman, Charlie Cheatham, disclosed that decorations will be in keeping with the importance of the occasion. Decorative plans include the releasing of balloons containing cigarettes from the ceiling.

All C. D. A. committee promise an “all out effort” to make this one of Clemson's “all time best” dances.

New Barracks Be Ready For Housing Vets

Additional housing, to provide living quarters for the increased student body expected in February, will be realized in the completion of three new temporary barracks, Henry H. Hill, Project Director, has announced. The barracks, located in front of the Field House, consist of two one story buildings that will house 72 men each and a two story barracks that will accommodate 128 men.

Furniture and equipment are being moved in to ready them for the new veteran students entering in February. Hill states that they will definitely be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the second semester.

Clemson's Housing Project consists of 50 duplex apartments, 248 individual homes, and the three recently constructed barracks. Clemson was one of the first institutions to get its housing projects underway; consequently, it is among the group of colleges that have larger housing facilities.

Federal officials recently stated that, without exception, Clemson has the finest project of its kind. Over one thousand applications have been received for homes and now there are approximately 650 on the waiting list.

Psychology Students Visit State Hospital

Members of the general psychology classes were afforded a first hand view of pathological mental cases during their visit to the State Hospital in Columbia on January 15. The three hour clinic included interviews, conducted by doctors of the institution, of patients suffering from organic and functional disorders.

More than 80 per cent of the classes voluntarily made the trip which was arranged by Prof. E. E. Waite, Associate Professor of Sociology and Psychology.

According to Prof. Waite, the hospital in Columbia is one of the best in the country. He expressed belief that the students derived much material good in actually seeing the cases of which

Congratulations to Our New Governor—

Clemson could smile with pride last Tuesday when one of her graduates, J. Strom Thurmond of Edgefield, took the office as the 77th governor of South Carolina.

As the office for the entire Clemson student body, Clemson administration and faculty, The Tiger extends to our new governor most sincere congratulations with the hope that his future as head of our state government will be a most successful as well as an enjoyable one.

And Best Wishes—

Congratulations to Clemson's new Honorary Cadet Colonel, Miss Betty Barton of Anderson.

Elected to this position of honor at the recent Military Ball given by the C. D. A. for the Cadet Corps, Miss Barton can be justly proud of her new station in life—that of being the sweetheart of 722 cadets.

The Tiger extends to Miss Barton our best wishes for a glorious coming year.

On Student Organization—

Plans for the improvement of this college which have been advocated by energetic student leaders have consistently been met with an attitude of indifference and procrastination, whenever and wherever presented. Analysis of the cause of this undesirable situation shows that the most outstanding fault may well be due to the fact that the students have failed to give their total, solid support.

Although we have had very few good examples of forceful support, a demonstration of effectiveness of organization was evident several years ago when a local merchant was banned by the student body because of high prices. As a result of this ban, prices declined, services improved, and the situation cleared itself.

There is a definite need for more complete organization of the student body. The advantages of such a move would be unlimited, but one of the main accomplishments derived would be the student ability to enforce measures which were deemed necessary for the common good.

The Tiger does not advocate that the student body organize to the extent of making demands, but we do favor a type of organization which will be able to recommend with such a unit of force that appropriate action becomes compulsory.

Got A Match, Bud?—

The lighting situation at the college library is deplorable. The majority of desk lamps have burned-out bulbs, and even if new bulbs replaced them, the lamps are so ancient that they would do more harm than good.

Miss Cornelia Graham and her staff have conscientiously endeavored to make the library conducive to good studying but have seen a good deal of their effort wasted because of the insufficient lighting.

Investigation has revealed that plans were advanced last July to renovate the lighting system, primarily in the main reading room. The Tiger cannot understand why action has not been taken to alleviate these faults. Those in authority of buildings and grounds should take necessary steps to correct this unnecessary situation.

Better Checking Facilities Or—

Checking facilities at Military Ball have been regarded as inadequate. The fee charged for this service has also been a highlight of criticism by the students.

If the C. D. A. is unable to influence an improvement of the situation, The Tiger suggests that the holders of this concession be forced to relinquish their privilege.

Notice To All Students—

Unfortunately, everyone has not been receiving his copy of The Tiger. In an attempt to remedy this situation, we will begin to deliver the paper to every room in the barracks.

All students living outside of barracks are requested to pick up their copy of The Tiger at our office in the basement of Tillman Hall, or send twenty five cents (to cover cost of mailing) to: The Tiger, Box 269, Clemson South Carolina.

Please be sure to include full name and address, or Post Office box number.

NOT THAT IT MATTERS

BY ROBERT CARPENTER

This week is one which all students look forward to with equal anticipation—the week before exams. I have been trying desperately to get this column written and have at last resorted to putting down a few scattered sentences between glances in this pile of books before me—wonder where they have been all semester?

TO STUDY?

Well, let's see what's in the first book. Ah, History (ancient at that), and so this is the way the whole thing started? Not a bad story; probably if I had read this through previously these old prelin questions would have more meaning.

Just as I expected, an interruption. The guard has finally got around to bringing me a note deposited in the Guard Room five days ago. It is a notice to get measured for my cap and gown. Maybe if I explain what happened, the class will let me graduate in an old sheet or G. I. blanket.

After talking to the Senior Class President, it was decided that I could stand behind one of the tall men, wrap myself in the tail of his gown, and we could be graduated together. The question now is will we both have the same diploma. (Perhaps after four years of C. E., I'll get an Ag degree!)

Our class not only is the first in the history of the college to graduate in caps and gowns, but it is the first class to have a formal graduation exercise in February. Not only are the clothing and time odd, but almost all the candidates entered Clemson in 1940 or before—seven or more years ago (appears to be a dumb class, doesn't it?)

Let's see, where was I? Oh, yes, now it's Bacteriology . . . What do I remember about it? Here is a note: see page 583. Just a minute, here it is: Beer and Wine Manufacture—no, I hardly think that'll be on the exam. . . .

OR NOT TO STUDY?

It's time for that mid-evening chow break, so if I can round up a couple of bucks I'll go down to the barracks' store and buy a sandwich and a pint of milk. If the married vets think that they have high food bills, they should try to support one of us for a week. If (the food problem) presents a daily cycle: dream all day of that sla pof bread and slice of cheese, and they lay awake all night drinking soda and figuring out a way to pay for it. Perhaps that is the practical side of college life.

Men always seem to collect when the odor of food is in the air, so the nightly meeting of Sigma Beta Beta (motto: shoot better bull) is called to order. It has been wisely said that when men get together the topic of conversation is one of the three following: women, the war, or women. After the proverbial smoke cleared, this story came to the front. It seems that one of the fellows received a phone call from his gal in a far away city. After the last words of bliss passed between them and he was preparing to replace the receiver on its hook the operator brought him back to the world of realism with these words, "That will be three dollars and a quarter, please." He was startled.

The facts were then explained; she had called collect. What could he do? All he had in his pocket was a five dollar bill. He explained hurriedly to the operator and then rushed out to the corner drug store to get some change. In the excitement he asked a man standing on the corner if he had three dollars and a quarter in change. The man replied in the affirmative and gave our hero that exact amount of change for which the excited one gave the stranger the five dollar bill. It was not until the student had completed paying the patient operator that he realized what he had done. So, if a meek vet asks you to give him a swift kick in the pants, you'll know what his trouble is.

OH, WELL, WHAT'S THE USE?

The room is once more clear, the members have all adjourned, all is quiet except for some soft music entering the room via the ether. My eyes begin to wander about the room, then they alternate between the pile of books and the picture of my gal. One little voice firmly recommends the pile of literary collections and reminds me of the oath of the college professor, while the other little voice says softly, "It's better to rest your mind completely before an examination. Relax and write a letter." Now I ask you which would you follow . . . ?

MODERN WARFARE
YOUR LIFE DEPENDS ON KNOWING ALL WEAPONS

WE'RE PRACTICALLY WASTING TIME WITH OUR OBSOLETE EQUIPMENT!

TALK of the TOWN

By H. G. REYNOLDS

There seems to be little doubt that the military instruction which is being meted out by the several advanced R. O. T. C. schools is administered without the aid of the newest weapons and equipment. It does seem that the War Department would see fit to release surplus vehicles, training aids, and weapons to institutions which are training future officers.

DISAPPOINTING EQUIPMENT

Sadly to say, we find that Clemson is forced to be pleased with having a complete issue of M-1 rifles. We have had issued a 37mm anti-tank gun which, according to War Department admission, has been obsolete for more than three years. We also have a .50 caliber machine gun and several old mortars which must suffice for the eight hundred students in training.

Let us point out that we are by no means attempting to blame the Military Department of this college, for we believe the fault lies in higher echelon.

As we see it—the Officer Training program should be revised to include the best and newest equipment obtainable at the earliest possible date.

INFORMATION PLEASE

We wonder why the Kress Lecture given by Dr. Luther Cable on January 17 received so little advance publicity. Many students failed to hear of the scheduled appearance until the event had already taken place.

The Tiger was unable to obtain the necessary information for publication in the last issue. Apparently there was no extended effort made for the dissemination of the publicity, and in view of its importance, there is no excuse for such negligence.

We believe that the Kress Fund Lectures should be given their rightful significance in view of the fact that they are very informative, and also free of charge.

SYMPHONIC NOTE

The National Symphony, which is next to appear in the concert series, has been scheduled on a Saturday night. Due to the fact that most of the student body is away for the week-ends, we question the logic here. There is naturally a reason for the National Symphony being signed on a Saturday night; however, we feel that a substitution of some other available concert during the week would be preferable.

It will be a pleasure to hear the National Symphony—if we are here.

A BIG BOUQUET

Orchids to—the manager of the College Laundry, Mr. Dillard. While working under great difficulty, with inexperienced help, and lacking operating space and equipment, Mr. Dillard has finally succeeded in getting the laundry delivered on a Monday to Friday basis.

Our laundry service was originally built to accommodate only two thousand cadets, but, at present, is turning out good service to almost twice that number.

More power to you and your staff, Mr. Dillard, for a job well done.

MORE LAURELS

We cannot overlook the accomplishments of Mr. Lindsey, who has done an excellent job in directing the Mess Hall activities. Clemson men appreciate the attentive way in which the acting Mess Officer constantly checks on the service given during meal and suggestions which will improve the service.

We like to see a man who always meets us halfway on the subject of our common problems, and we believe Mr. Lindsey to be that sort of man.

DR. POOLE SAYS THAT..

Good health is a prerequisite to success in most of life's activities. It is so important that every one should constantly maintain a vigilant attitude and practice the principles necessary for good health which is of major importance in peace as well as in war.

When young one has much vigor and stamina that the question of health does not receive much of an individual's attention. The question of health is left to youth's ability to produce persistence. However, when one neglects his health when he was young, serious trouble may develop in later years—frequently when he is around forty years of age.

The men who served in the armed forces received frequent physical examinations during their period of service. Ownership of a copy of your medical records might prove valuable especially if minor defects were listed.

The normal life saved while a student at Clemson with regular eating habits, military training, and intramural sports, may have had definite values in determining the physical health of the men at the outbreak of the war. The small number of men in the graduating classes and the small number of 4-F men at Clemson during the war period seems proof enough that the student life at Clemson is favorable to good health. Therefore we must strive in perfecting this matter which is so important to every student.

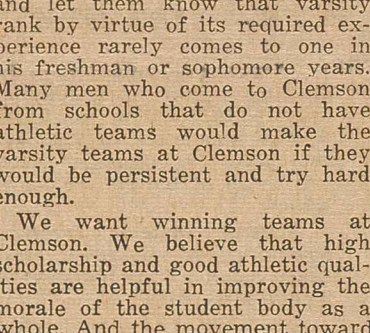

Mr. J. Roy Cooper, Associate Secretary of the YMCA, has informed me of the success of the intramural program. It is encouraging that so many young men are participating in wholesome sports of one sort or another. This program may serve two purposes.

The young men who participate obtain good recreation and exercise. Then this should be a source of providing good varsity material because surely among such a large student body there are capable athletes of the sort known as "natural athletes." Boxing, basketball, baseball, tennis, and track are good college sports. It seems to me that the teams making up these sports could very well come from the student body as a whole. It is not preposterous to think that a great football team could be developed from the large Clemson student body. This would be entirely possible if there were some way to encourage students and let them know that varsity rank by virtue of its required experience rarely comes to one in his freshman or sophomore years.

Many men who come to Clemson from schools that do not have athletic teams would make the varsity teams at Clemson if they would be persistent and try hard enough.

We want winning teams at Clemson. We believe that high scholarship and good athletic qualities are helpful in improving the morale of the student body as a whole. And the movement toward supporting the intramural program for health values merits the attention of student organizations. Finding good varsity material among the intramural teams challenges the good scouting of the coaching staff.

R. F. Poole, President.

Major Harold S. Tate, textile industrial education of '25, sent the college a very colorful and informative exhibit portraying the growth and life of the silkworm. Major Tate, an associate professor of vocational education at Clemson before accepting a commission in the navy, is stationed in Japan. His wife and 16-year-old son left Clemson a few months ago to join him in Tokyo. . . . Dr. D. W. Daniel, dean emeritus of the School of Arts and Sciences, made a "return engagement" January 17th at the Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, to address senior class of officer candidates.

Many engagements have been announced in the last few weeks. Wilbur Greyard, textile engineering senior of Greenville, is to marry Miss Ruth Ellis, also of Greenville, on February 11. An honor student and top man on last year's tennis team, Greyard will graduate in February. . . . Norman Skinner, electrical engineering senior of Greenville, tells us that he is planning to marry Miss Norma Nelson, a resident of Anderson who is now going to Furman. After Skinner graduates next month, Norma and Norman plan to live in Hampton, Virginia. . . . Announcement was made recently of the engagement of Jane Hammet, Furman graduate of Greenville, to Jimmie Seacord, textile engineering senior from Greenville.

A football great in 1935, Stanley Fellers, graduate in general science, has been discharged from the army and has returned to the laundry business, taking a position with a concern in Walterboro. . . . Arthur Williams, textile industry '36 and cadet colonel while here, is now connected with the legal department of the South Carolina Electric and Gas Company. . . . President of this utility company is S. C. "Slick" McMeekin, mechanical engineering '23, who is now president of the Clemson Alumni Corporation. . . . Word comes to us by way of Coach Frank Howard that Jess Neely's Cadillac has shrunk up until it is now an everyday Ford. The two old friends met at the meeting of the National Coaches Association of America at New York, and there they swapped yarns. . . . A new chapter of Clemson Alumni has been organized in Walterboro with their first meeting being held on February 15. . . . Also Danville, Virginia, has a new chapter of alumni. President of the group is M. C. Ellison, chemical engineering '24.

Thomas Belton Laney, agronomy junior of Cheraw, is engaged to Frances Ervin of Bennettsville, but no definite date has been set for the marriage ceremony. . . . Charles B. Smith, civil engineering freshman of Spartanburg, and Mary Evans, Limestone junior, were wed recently. Mrs. Smith is now living in Spartanburg, but will join her husband here as soon as a "prefab" can be obtained. . . . John Ligon, general science senior of Heath Springs, is to marry Miss Ruth Wilson, a junior at Penn State, on February 18. The couple will live with Mrs. B. B. Burley on the campus.

Call Is Issued For Baseball And Track Prospects

Hinson To Call Meeting Of All Prospects Today

Baseball practice will soon be underway at Clemson. Coach Randy Hinson announced last week that pitchers and catchers would begin working out in the field house today, and that full sessions would come after exams. A meeting of all baseball prospects will be held today in the field house in an effort to get things lined up for the coming season.

Coach Hinson said that the baseball schedule is still incomplete, but that around 25 games have already been scheduled, and several more will be added. Hinson also commented that most of the games will be held at Clemson this year.

Any pitcher or catcher is asked to get in touch with Hinson at the field house anytime after today, and that after exams, a call will be given for all diamond hopefuls to report for daily workouts.

IPTAY and ALUMNI NOTES

BY BOB BRADLEY

RECENT MEETINGS OF INTEREST: The Charlotte Alumni Club held its regular monthly meeting on January 13 in the Carolina City, and a nice steak supper was enjoyed by 35 or 40 members and friends. President Leon R. Young presided, and Coach Frank Howard and Walter Tilley spoke briefly. Carroll Hambricht, former Tiger linebman, introduced Coach Howard, after which pictures of the Clemson-Auburn game were shown. The next meeting of the club will be held on February 10, and election of officers will be held at this get-together. . . . The Colleton County Club had a meeting in Walterboro January 15 with approximately 50 members in attendance. After a delicious steak supper, the gathering enjoyed a talk by "Uncle Jake" Woodward on "Aims of Clemson's Emphasis of Education of Every Boy Who Wants it." Coach Howard made some comments on football, and the Tiger supporters enjoyed movies of the Clemson-Auburn game. Another meeting will be held in the near future. The club meetings are held each quarter. . . . The Columbia Clemson Club will have a meeting on January 27 at the Wade Hampton Hotel. Coach Howard, Walter Tilley, and several other Clemson coaches are expected to attend. . . . Congratulations to the Tiger men of Saluda County! Clemson men of that county have taken the first step for a bigger and better IPTAY organization by sending a list of names to the Clemson Athletic Office of men interested in reorganizing a Saluda County Club. A tentative meeting date has been set for February 7, and any Saluda County man who is interested in joining this club may write Frank Kearse at the County Agent's Office in Saluda, and get additional information. . . . According to P. H. Adams of the 1906 class, the New York Chapter of the Clemson Alumni Club will hold a meeting in New York on January 29 at Schrott's Restaurant on Lexington Avenue at 42nd Street. Professor Sam Rhodes of the Engineering Department is expected to attend this meeting. The Spartanburg-Clemson Club held a meeting last Tuesday night

W. A. HOLSHOUSER

Track, Football, Basketball Tops For Holshouser

BY BUD OLSON

W. A. "Heavy" Holshouser, arts and sciences freshman from Erwin, Tennessee, is Clemson's outstanding center for the current hardwood season. The six feet four and one half inch basketball racker has approximately eight points per game this season, and had a seasons total of 61 points. Holshouser has been one of the main components in giving rival quintets trouble with his offensive as well as defensive play.

"Hols" graduated from high school in 1941, and was captain and center of the basketball team for three years. He also played football and participated in track events.

After graduating from high school, Holshouser worked for the Glen Martin Aircraft Company in Baltimore until he entered the Army Air Corps in 1943. He was in the Air Corps for 4 years, and served one year in the E. T. O.

While in the Army, "Heavy" played basketball on the post team at George Field, Illinois. He also played at Chanute Field where he was one of the top scorers for the soldier quintet. While at Chanute, he shot 66 points in one game, and remembers this as being his all-time high for any single contest.

"Hols" was discharged on April the first of last year, and entered Clemson in July on a football scholarship. He played tackle on the Tiger football squad last year and plans to go out for track this coming season. He will compete in disc throw, shot put, and other field events.

Holshouser plans to be a coach when he graduates, and hopes to be located in the mid-west.

at Hotel Cleveland with around 80 present. Later, the club attended the Clemson-Wofford basketball game as a body. Coach Walter Tilley made the trip over to the Hub City, and reported a very successful meeting. Officers of the club are L. B. Massey, president; Bert Barr, vice-president; and Kenneth Cribb, secretary-treasurer. The board of directors are Hugh Foster, P. B. Holtzendorff, III, J. L. Adams, and Frank Lee.

INTERROGATION FROM THE SIDELINES

Everywhere you go these days, people ask such questions as "Why doesn't Clemson have a winning athletic combination?" "Why don't you get a new coach at Clemson?" "What's doing with those 3,000 boys up there?"

Most critics don't take time out to analyze the situation. Some think that if you have a championship team one year, you should continue to have one every year.

The Athletic Department is doing its best to obtain good boys, who can make the grade both in the classroom, and on the playing field, but it will probably be a couple of seasons more before Clemson can build up a winning combination.

A point to remember—a good school's reputation does not grow from being a consistent winner any more than it grows from being a good sport while losing.

GLEMSON GRID PRACTICE TO START

Basketball, baseball, and track are taking up most of our time these days, but next month, Coach Frank Howard will issue the call for spring practice in the Tiger football camp. To be exact, the date is February 17, and the head mentor expects about 60 or 65 boys to turn out.

Several men who were absentees for a couple of seasons will be back on the gridiron this year. Paulas, an end of the '44 team, and Salisbury, Ard, and Richardson, guards of the '43 and '44 teams are expected back in camp.

Russ Cohen, a new coach Clemson obtained from VMI, will report in time for spring practice, and will assist Howard and his aides in rounding out a good spring practice. Coach Cohen was chief scout for the Virginia school for about ten years, and is considered one of the best in the business. He will help out in the backfield coaching, and is a good line adviser also. During Howard's playing days at Alabama, he and Cohen became bosom buddies, as Cohen was already in coaching duties at that school.

HOWARD IS HUSTLING

You can't catch Frank Howard at home very much these days because he is burning up the rubber on the highway visiting Alumni clubs, and making speeches at high school banquets.

One may think that all a football coach has to do is sit in a big swivel chair, chew tobacco, and occasionally run out on the field and see if every thing is going right. Truth of the matter is, a coach has more trouble than Carter has pills.

During the past ten days or so, Coach Howard and Walter Tilley have been making trips to neighboring states seeing what they can see, and hearing what they can hear, but you can bet your bottom dollar that they aren't just on sight seeing tours.

Our future success on the gridiron may well depend upon Howard's success on the road. If good football players are up in the hills, you can expect the coach to be sporting a pair of alpine shorts and a walking stick.

SYMPATHY TO MCFADDEN

It was with deep regret that we received the news of the death of Mrs. J. B. McFadden of Great Falls, mother of Coach Banks McFadden. Students and faculty members alike send their deepest sympathy to you, Banks.

HOLTZENDORFF IS CAPTAIN OF SWIMMERS

We wish to apologize to Linton Holtzendorff for omitting his name last week as being a captain of the swimming team. "Lint" has been doing a majority of the coaching as well as acting captain of the aquatic team. Joe Mann who was elected captain, has shown little interest in the team due to graduation, and "Lint" has shown leadership for the team thus far.

JONES TO REMAIN AT CLEMSON

Rumors have been flying around that Clemson would lose its end coach, Bob Jones, to Wofford at the beginning of the next football season. However, all these rumors have been spiked by Dr. Walter K. Greene, president of the Spartanburg institution, with the announcement that Jones had not been contacted as a possible coach for the 1947 edition of the Wofford Terriers. We are glad to hear that Jones will be around again this year to instruct Tiger flankmen.

DID YOU KNOW THAT . . .

. . . Randy Hinson, baseball coach, has recently claimed a better half, and they have set up quarters in the field house? . . . An invitational track meet will be held at the University of North Carolina either the last Saturday in February or the first Saturday in March. . . . Clemson should have another cracker-jack baseball team this year? . . . Each of the top schools in the state won a major sports title last year? Clemson, baseball; Furman, basketball; and Carolina, football. . . . Clemson needs more IPTAY members to strengthen the Athletic Association? . . . It is always nice to be able to say "I Pay Ten A Year"?

Tiger Tankmen Outclassed By Emory Swimmers

Clemson's outclassed tank squad met defeat at the hand of the swimming team from Emory University in Atlanta in their recent encounter by a score of 55-10. High scorer for the Tiger team was R. R. Hirschberg, pre-medicine freshman of Sumter, with a total of six points. The brilliant form displayed caused Hirschberg to be a leading contender in each event he entered.

"Lint" Holtzendorff, veteran tankman from Clemson, and "Hank" Walker, star end on the football team from Griffin, Ga., each collected four points sharing runnerup honors for Clemson. Joe Mann of Greenville, who garnered two points, finished third in two events, while Bultman, Martin, and Brinsendine rang up one point each for the team.

Holtzendorff, back from a long hitch in Uncle Sam's service, has been handling a major share of the coaching duties for the squad. Professor Carl McHugh, former Clemson backstroke artist, has also been giving valuable tips to the team members.

The following schedule for the Clemson swimmers was released by the Tiger swimming mentor: North Carolina State at Clemson on January 23; Georgia Tech at Atlanta on January 24; and the University of Georgia at Athens on January 29. The following tentative dates have been listed: V. P. I. at Blacksburg on February 13; University of Florida at Clemson on February 14; and a return meet with the University of Florida at Gainesville on March 15.

Invitations for a state swimming meet to be held at Clemson on February 12 are to be sent out; however, if requested by a sufficient number of teams, this date may be changed to February 22.

According to a statement by Coach Holtzendorff, it may be necessary to cancel some of the scheduled meets unless more good swimmers report.

Wofford Topples Tigers In First Palmetto Defeat

Clemson's quintet met its first state defeat at the hands of the Wofford Terriers on the latter's court last Tuesday night. The final count was 40-31.

Seay, Wofford center and the high point maker in the state, took individual scoring honors for the night with 20 points through the hoop. "Heavy" Holshouser was top man for the Tigers with 10 tallies. The home club led at the half, 20-16.

Clemson, Furman Gamecocks Lead

South Carolina Gamecocks are out in front in the state basketball race with three wins and no defeats. Furman places second with a four and one record, and Clemson is bringing up the third position with three wins and one defeat.

The next game for the Tiger quintet will be on January 30 when they journey over to Due West to tangle with the victory-less Erskine Flying Fleet. This will be the last game until the latter part of exam week when the Carolina Gamecocks will pay a visit to Tigertown.

The standings of state games only as of Wednesday night, Jan. 22, are as follows:

Blue Cord Of Pershing Rifles Is Dream Of All Freshmen At Clemson

Dr Poole Is Elected ASAW Vice Pres.

Dr. R. F. Poole was elected Vice President of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers at a convention of that group in Biloxi, Mississippi, January 15 to 17.

Also attending the meeting were twenty seven Clemson men, of which seventeen were faculty members and the remainder were from the Experiment Station, Extension Service, or the U. S. D. A.

"Southern Agriculture and the Next Decade—a Challenge" was the theme of this organization, which is composed of research and extension workers in the land grant colleges, industry, and other functioning organs in the field of agriculture.

Interest Shown In Song Contest

Members of the committee in charge of The Tiger Brotherhood music contest have announced that letters of inquiry have been received during the past several weeks. However, no compositions have as yet been received.

Any alumnus, student, faculty member, or person who has shown great interest in Clemson is eligible for this contest which ends March 31.

Entries must be original, well pitched, and "singable." It will not be necessary for contestants to work out complete arrangements; a simple melody will suffice. All compositions will be given consideration, and those not accepted may be reclaimed by the writers. Authors' publication rights of those accepted will be respected.

Contestants should address all entries to Music Contest, Box 1097, Clemson, South Carolina. Additional information, if desired, may be obtained from H. F. Frierson, Room 6-101, or from the above mailing address.

Special Short Course Offered to Seven Men

For the past week, seven high school graduates have been taking a short course in milk testing here at Clemson. These men are working with the Dairy Herd Improvement Association on completion of their instruction. Various professors of the Dairy Department are serving as instructors for the course, which is to last until Wednesday.

This is one of the many short courses offered for various groups interested in dairying. One of the next courses will be concerning artificial insemination.

LEWIS A. (RED) CRAWFORD

Across the street from Evan's 5 and 10s Store

Rare is the freshman cadet who, even before his hair has begun to sprout, has not secretly aspired to sport diamonds on his shoulders. His first big chance to gain recognition for that goal is winning a spot in the Pershing Rifles. Whether he's eliminated at the start of the nerve-racking drill, or whether he comes through triumphantly, the enterprising first year man will agree that it was worth the try.

With the annual occurrence of competition and pledging of "Bullets," the Pershing Rifles has become a tradition at Clemson. During initiation the pledges carry blue rifle-shaped paddles which soon transfer their color (with a bit of black) to a certain vulnerable portion of their anatomy.

It is therefore difficult to realize that Clemson's unit is merely a part of nation-wide organization whose own traditions extend back to 1892, before Clemson had graduated its first class.

It was in that year that another enterprising young man, Lieutenant John J. Pershing by name, organized "Co. A of the Nebraska Regiment" at the University of Nebraska. Owing to the distinction it and its leaders won, the company was named the "Pershing Rifles" when the then future World War I A. E. F. Commander left the institution. Thirty two years after its establishment, in 1925, the Pershing Rifles began branching out, first with Ohio State University, until at the present time few ROTC organizations lack that unit.

As stated in its constitution, the purpose of the Pershing Rifles is to "encourage, preserve, and develop the highest ideals of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps military profession, to promote American citizenship, to create a closer and more efficient relationship between men, and to provide appropriate recognition of a high degree of military ability among the cadets of the several senior units."

Graduate Opens New Engineering Firm

Alexander C. Crouch, mechanical engineering '38, has opened the Piedmont Engineering Service in Greenville. The new business will specialize in land surveying, property development, drafting, printing, and photocopying.

Mr. Crouch, the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. J. L. Crouch of Clemson, was recently discharged from the army as a lieutenant colonel after five and a half years service in the Signal Corps. He is a registered surveyor and a member of the International Association of Blue Printers and Allied Industries.

Fellowship Club Sees War Film on Germany

The Fellowship Club, which sponsors local civic interests, met last Tuesday night at the YMCA for its second meeting of the month.

Major W. M. Rowe of the Greenville Army Air Base showed the group films taken of the Eighth Air Force during actual bombing missions over Germany, with special emphasis on fighter plane technique.

Recently, the Fellowship Club had been instrumental in the bringing of Dr. W. A. Sibrans to Clemson.

NATIONAL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA, CONDUCTED BY HANS KANDLER

New Instruments Will Allow Band to Grow

Newly arrived instruments, valued at several thousand dollars, point to further expansion of the Clemson Concert Band. According to Professor Hugh H. McGarity, head of the Music Department, the band will be able to take in several new members for next semester.

It is the mistaken belief of some students that only members of the military band are allowed to play in the concert band. However, Professor McGarity stated that any student may try out for the concert band and urges those interested to contact him before this semester ends, so they may be included with the old members in the plans for next semester. All members are selected for their playing ability, he said, and all possible consideration will be given to anyone interested enough to try out.

Campbell Leads Campus Singing

Mr. George W. Campbell, nationally known song leader and humorist, spent last week on the campus as guest of the college YMCA. Prior to serving three years in the Army, Mr. Campbell was chairman of music for Kiwanis International and director of music for the George Williams College, Chicago.

While at Clemson he conducted singing at two vesper services, twice daily between movies, at open house for ROTC, at informal gatherings of veterans and campus folk, in mass meeting of ROTC, at Central and Clemson High School, for the Seneca Rotary, and for a joint meeting of several of the religious organizations. Mr. Campbell's last meeting was a lecture on leading group singing.

The next guest of the "Y" will be Dr. James L. Ellenwood, YMCA State Secretary for New York, who will speak at vesper on February 2.

Items which are commonly used for personal purposes, such as fountain pens, brief cases, typewriters, etc., although also used in connection with the course of education or training, will not be provided by the Veterans Administration. In those instances where an article is available in several prices, grades, or qualities, the Veterans Administration will pay for the furnishing of only such quality or grade as will meet the requirements of the need which the article is intended to serve."

The following paragraphs are based on usage and rulings governing purchase on the G. I. account:

(2) Veterans presenting proper credentials are authorized to purchase and have charged to their accounts only the books, supplies, and equipment required of all students (civilian or veteran) in pursuance of a course.

(3) Lists of the required books, supplies, and equipment are furnished the book store by the Department Heads and Deans.

(4) Items which cannot be charged to the G. I. account include: fountain pens, desk sets, mechanical pencils, typewriters, study lamps, staplers, punches, brief cases, leather and zipper notebooks and reference material.

(5) The veteran cannot purchase on G. I. account any better quality supplies than those required of civilian students. Any difference will be paid by the veteran.

Phi Psi, National Honorary Textile Fraternity, Establishes Good-Will

At Clemson, the fraternity which is operated for and by textile students is Phi Psi, National Honorary Textile Fraternity. The Clemson group has been designated as the Iota chapter by the national organization.

Phi Psi was founded at the Philadelphia Textile School in 1903 to accelerate the growth of the textile industry. Another goal was to establish an organization which would give textile students a chance to assemble and discuss subjects of common interest. This was basically to create congenial and fraternal feelings among the future leaders of the textile industry. Since its conception, this organization has grown rapidly until now there are chapters in all textile schools as well as many alumni chapters in various cities.

The Iota chapter was founded at Clemson in 1927 and is the oldest Greek letter fraternity on the campus. This group had 12 students as its nucleus; the only charter member still at Clemson is Professor D. P. Thompson.

To show how this group has grown, there were over 150 members of this chapter who were in the service during World War II. At present there are 45 undergraduate members on the campus.

Officers of the group are President E. T. McIlwain, Textile Chemistry senior from Atlanta, Ga.; Vice President, W. D. Clark, Textile Engineering senior from Lexington, N. C.; Secretary-Treasurer J. R. Clark, Textile Engineering senior from Walhalla, S. C.; Senior Warden W. B. Greyard, Textile Engineering senior from Greenville; and Junior Warden W. E. Broadwell, Textile Chemistry senior from Sumter.

Present faculty adviser is Professor W. D. Blair.

The qualifications for admission vary with the class a student is in. The highest textile student in the Sophomore class receives

New Position Filled In Dairy Department

Dr. Harold Kinard of Ruffin will join the Dairy Department staff next semester to fill the new position of veterinarian.

He attended Clemson for three years taking pre-medicine and then transferred to Kansas State College where he received his doctor's degree as a veterinarian. Much of the work of this new position will be concerned with artificial insemination.

Five Students Solve The Housing Problem

Partial solution of the housing shortage has been solved by five students who are now living in the firehouse.

These men are all veterans and moved into the firehouse because of lack of space in barracks.

In addition to the students, two regular firemen are on duty at the station, one during the day, and one at night.

is required for use in more than one subject or unit course, or in another term, quarter, or semester, or in a succeeding school year, such article will not be duplicated.

(8) A veteran who changes his course will be required to pay the reasonable value of the unexpended articles which cannot be utilized in the course to which he has changed.

a bid if his grade point ratio is above 6.00. First semester juniors are admitted with a ratio of 6.00, while second semester students need a 5.00 ratio. Seniors in their first semester qualify with a 4.5 and second semester men with a 4.25. Also considered in selecting a candidate is the student's character, outside interests, and personality. New members are tapped each semester.

This group sponsors an annual supper for Phi Psi alumni each year at homecoming. They also initiate a clean-up campaign in the spring. The "Bobbin and Beaker," journalistic organ of this group is at present being reorganized.

Moore Elected C. F. S. Officer

William H. Moore, arts and sciences sophomore of Sandy Springs, was elected Tournay Chairman of the Calhoun Forensic Society, the college debating organization, on January 16. In this office Moore will direct Clemson debating teams at intercollegiate debates.

C. J. Hipp, recently elected president of the organization states that plans are now being made for C. F. S. members to represent the college in intercollegiate debates in the near future.

All students who are interested in becoming members of this half-century old debating organization should write a letter, stating their desire, to Secretary T. S. Fox, Box 856, Clemson.

M. D. Moore Leaves For Riverdale Mills

M. D. Moore, textile '43 of the Textile Department, has announced his resignation, effective at the end of this semester. Moore will be employed by Riverdale Mills in Enoree to do research, testing, and costing work. He states that he is anxious to return to Clemson at some future date.

Frank C. Rogers, who will graduate in February, has been engaged to replace Moore, and it is expected that one other instructor will be obtained before the second semester.

Students Set High Scholastic Record During Summer Term

Figures released by the Registrar's office indicate that students who attended the 1946 summer semester attained the highest scholastic mark recorded here in the past fifteen years, and probably the highest in the 53-year history of the school.

The first scholastic honor list was compiled in 1932, and since that time only one student in ten has qualified for this list by making an average of "B" or better. During the 1946 summer semester one student in four qualified for this honor, however.

Of the 933 students enrolled in the summer school 226 made honors. Twenty six per cent of the veteran students made the honor roll and almost eleven per cent of the non-veterans were in the select group.

G. E. Metz, Registrar, announced that the list on the 1946 summer honor list will be available for publication early in February.

1916 Class Plans Little Theatre

Plans have been drawn up for conversion of an as yet unidentified old building on the campus for use as a little theatre. The construction is to be undertaken with the sponsorship of the class of 1916 as soon as the present scarcity of building materials is relieved.

Although a definite site has not been chosen, the old print shop, where the class of 1916 laid a cornerstone during its reunion in 1941, and the sheep barn are under consideration for the change.

If plans are carried out, a museum to house relics of Clemson's past will be included in the works.

The theatre, which would seat some 250 persons, could be used for meetings of school groups as well as for the theatrical presentations.

Reed Miller, a former Clemson student from Anderson, wrote the music to the song "Carolina," which was used in the inauguration ceremonies at Columbia January 21. While at Clemson Miller was known for his tenor voice.

Prof McGarity Head Of Recently Organized Department Of Music

When McGarity entered college, the head of the Department of Music at the University of Georgia, Professor Hugh Hodgson, awarded him a piano scholarship to the University. While studying there, he was the student director of the University of Georgia Band. He played first chair trombone in the Band, and in the Little Symphony Orchestra, which corresponds to our Concert Band.

During his naval career, he was stationed at the Pre-Flight School at Athens, Georgia, where he directed a sixty-voice choir of cadets.

Released from the Navy, McGarity returned to the University of Georgia as a graduate student. During this time he composed "A Suite For Doug" (named for his small son), "A Piano Quartet," and "A Theme and Variations," all for the piano. In September, 1946, he was awarded the degree, Master of Fine Arts.

Upon completion of his course, McGarity and his family moved to Clemson, where he took up duties as the head of a department which practically did not exist. Under his direction The

British Meet South Carolina Potatoes

South Carolina's own sweet potatoes will be introduced to the British people through their Ambassador to the United States, when General Robert M. Littlejohn presents him a bushel of "yams."

General Littlejohn, War Assets Administrator and brother of Clemson's Business Manager J. C. Littlejohn, will present the potatoes individually wrapped, to the Ambassador in Washington. The potatoes will be a token of gratitude for the many favors extended the General while in England serving on the SHAEF staff.

Gen. Littlejohn, who attended Clemson for two years, 1906 and 1907, received an appointment to West Point and graduated from that institution. He entered the army soon after and was recently retired by Congress.

Military and Concert Bands and the Glee Club are being developed into smooth-functioning and smooth playing units.
